

The Marlborough Arts Center's 4th Friday @ the Arts Café on May 24, 2018 will star the Modern Riffs in the beautiful Charles W. Hall Art Gallery at 231 North Main Street in Marlborough. The Modern Riffs is a powerful classic rock, jazz, and funk group showcasing high school musicians. The group was founded in 2008 and currently consists of musicians from Bacon Academy and RHAM in addition to two adult leaders, Kim Dubois of Colchester and Bruce Phelps of Marlborough.

This is a great concert for people of all ages and will feature a wide array of music ranging from Miles Davis to Bruno Mars and beyond.

Admission is $10 per person at the door. Doors open at 7:00 p.m. with the concert beginning at 7:30 p.m. BYOWine. Refreshments are available. The building is fully accessible and has ample parking. For details about the Marlborough Arts Center and its many art shows, activities, and even rentals for special events, check their website at www.marlbrougharts.org or leave a message at (860) 295-9389. A member of the Board will return all calls.
