

Marlborough's Lake Terramuggus Featured on the Cover of National Trade Magazine

Written by Jabe Boston

The Fall 2011 issue of the North American Lake Management Society's (NALMS) LakeLine magazine features a front and back cover photo of Marlborough's Lake Terramuggus. Resident Jane Boston entered a photo contest sponsored by NALMS in the Fall of 2010. While she didn't place in the contest, she recently found out that the editor selected her photo to grace the cover of this national trade magazine. It's distributed to local, state and federal lake management and environmental agencies and authorities, lake associations and advocates throughout the United States and Canada.

Jane is a long time resident of Marlborough and serves on the Lake Advisory Commission and the Economic Development Commission. "I'm thrilled that a photo of our beautiful clean lake is featured on the cover of this national publication. It was a wonderful surprise to learn it was selected". The photo is titled "Lake Terramuggus Autumn Reflection". It depicts the colorful Fall colors of the trees on the lake shore reflected in a mirror image in the water. It was taken from the boat launch at Blish Park.

The Marlborough Lake Advisory Commission (LAC) is made up of dedicated residents who want to preserve and protect the lake. The members include avid fishermen, kayakers, swimmers, pontooners and residents who live both on or near the lake and throughout town who enjoy all the lake has to offer year round. The LAC members work hard to ensure that Lake Terramuggus can be enjoyed by all residents both now and well into the future.

They have focused their efforts in recent years on water quality and testing, eradicating invasive

Marlborough's Lake Terramuggus Featured on the Cover of National Trade Magazine

Written by Jabe Boston

weeds on the lake and in the watershed, educating residents on best management practices for maintaining lawns and vegetation on the lake shore, septic care, promoting swim safety and boat safety, updating regulations and providing the annual stocking of fish.

Marlborough's Lake Terramuggus Featured on the Cover of National Trade Magazine

By Jane Boston

The Fall 2011 issue of the North American Lake Management Society's (NALMS) LakeLine magazine features a front and back cover photo of Marlborough's Lake Terramuggus. Resident Jane Boston entered a photo contest sponsored by NALMS in the Fall of 2010.

While she didn't place in the contest, she recently found out that the editor selected her photo to grace the cover of this national trade magazine.

It's distributed to local, state and federal lake management and environmental agencies and authorities, lake associations and advocates throughout the United States and Canada.

Jane is a long time resident of Marlborough and serves on the Lake Advisory Commission and the Economic Development Commission. "I'm thrilled that a photo of our beautiful clean lake is featured on the cover of this national publication. It was a wonderful surprise to learn it was selected".

Marlborough's Lake Terramuggus Featured on the Cover of National Trade Magazine

Written by Jabe Boston

The photo is titled "Lake Terramuggus Autumn Reflection".

It depicts the colorful Fall colors of the trees on the lake shore reflected in a mirror image in the water.

It was taken from the boat launch at Blish Park.

The Marlborough Lake Advisory Commission (LAC) is made up of dedicated residents who want to preserve and protect the lake. The members include avid fishermen, kayakers, swimmers, pontooners and residents who live both on or near the lake and throughout town who enjoy all the lake has to offer year round. The LAC members work hard to ensure that Lake Terramuggus can be enjoyed by all residents both now and well into the future.

They have focused their efforts in recent years on water quality and testing, eradicating invasive weeds on the lake and in the watershed, educating residents on best management practices for maintaining lawns and vegetation on the lake shore, septic care, promoting swim safety and boat safety, updating regulations and providing the annual stocking of fish.